the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To reduce the number of older people who are in care homes.
- To improve the quality of care in care homes.
- To increase the number of older people who are able to live independently in their own homes.
- To improve the health and social care of older people.

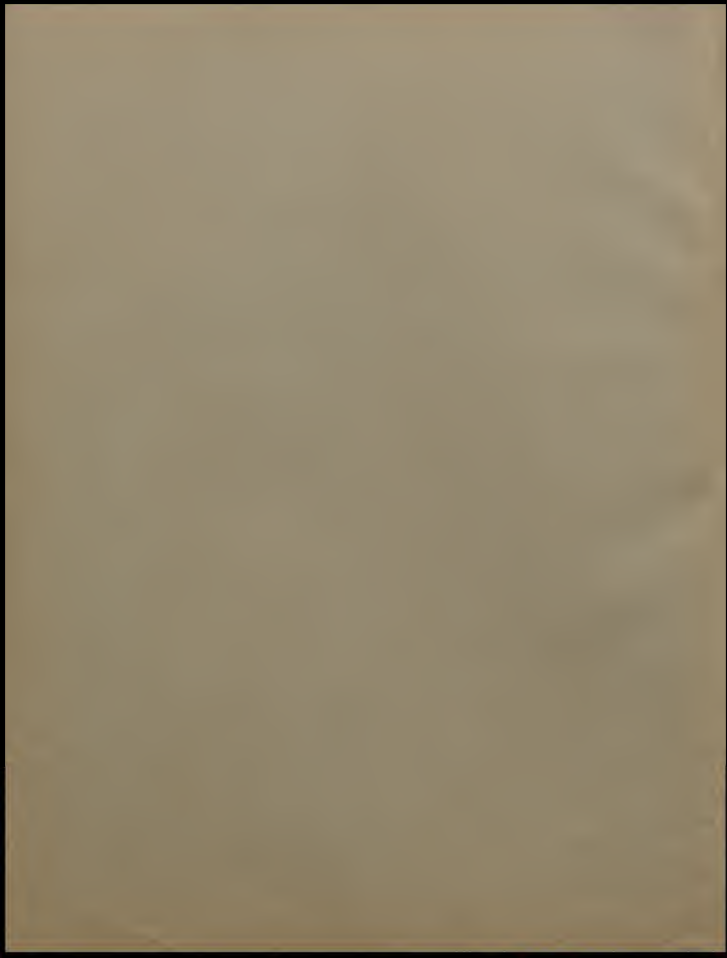

The strategy is a key document in the development of policy for older people in the UK. It provides a framework for the development of services and support for older people, and sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people.

FOREWORD

In the 1965 Lowellian we have tried to picture life in Lowell High School as it really is. When many years have passed and you have attained success, you may look back and recall the days of toil and pleasure you have spent as a student here.

If this record should serve to preserve such memories for you, then our purpose shall have been accomplished.

DEDICATION

To the student body and faculty who have given us their whole-hearted cooperation and with whom we have spent so many enjoyable hours we dedicate this

LOWELLIAN of 1935

We're loyal to you, Lowell High,
We're all for you, Lowell High,
You're the best in the land,
And we know you have sand,
And we'll back you to stand, Lowell High, RAH RAH

So smash that blockade, Lowell High,
Go crashing ahead, Lowell High,
Our team is our fame protector,
On boys, for we expect a victory from you,
Lowell, High.

SAY NOT THE STRUGGLE NOUGHT AVAILETH

by Arthur Hugh Clough

"Say not the struggle nought availeth,
The labour and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been they remain."

"If hopes were dupes, foes may be liars;
It may be, in yon smoke concealed,
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And, but for you, possess the field."

"For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main."

"And not be eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light,
In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look, the land is bright."

SENIORS' FAREWELL

Come all ye seniors let us gather,
In the classroom just once more.
For our time with dear Lowell High is up,
And our high school days are o'er.

Our time is short; we cannot linger,
Soon, my classmates, we must go;
But we won't forget the good old days
They were the best we'll ever know.

When I think of all those good times,
We had these last four years,
I turn my head away in sadness,
And my eyes, they fill with tears.

Come my comrades, I hear the whistle
And our train is almost due,
So, underclassmen and dear Lowell High
The Senior Class bids you Adieu.

SENIOR CLASS

On a clear September morn in the year 1931, the good airship "Class of '35" glided down the runway of the Freshman town airport with 82 passengers on a trans-educational hop. The plane was piloted by Marjorie Mcxell, with Edwin Van Nada as co-pilot and James Kaetzer as Steward. The managers of the ship were Miss Mason and Mr. Palmer. The next stop was to be Sophomoreton--the destination Seniorville, a place seemingly far away and highly imaginative. Nevertheless, the flight was smooth and fast.

At Sophomoreton, a new crew was taken aboard. Wesley Benson became pilot, his assistant James Kaetzer, and Betty Minninger, Stewardess. Roy Surprise, Charles Van Horn, John Ewer, Irving Southworth, Edna Schultz, Carl Schultz, Rose Rukas, Giles Viers, Alfred Hepp, Adolph and Rudolph Massoth, left the ship, while Jack Barnes, Wesley Benson, Helen Gasper, Ralph Potter, Velma Nelson and Ralph Combs boarded it. Miss Peterson and Mr. Palmer now led the group. The blue and silver machine sailed for Juniorburgh, the second stop of the trip. However, pilot Benson bailed out during the flight, and his vacancy was filled by Ralph Combs. The crew and passengers arrived safely at the second terminal, finding that they had flown across the initial half of their trip with amazing success and rapidity.

Then, to inaugurate their first really difficult and important flight, which was to Juniorburgh, the members of the flying machine chose Edmund Klemm to pilot them, Jean Hoevet his auxiliary, and Helen Gasper, Stewardess. This combination, just as the other two which preceded the 1934 group, proved to be very efficient. Their efforts were exhibited many times during the course of that trip, notably in connection with the Junior-Senior banquet. Miss Gragg and Mr. Brannock were in command of the group at this time.

Many new passengers, namely Beulah Collins, Guyneth Gord, Helen Lappin, Eva and Isabel Paul, Dorothy Golding, Lillian Henderson, Fred Kniering, Marcelline Simpson and Burra Eilers joined the passengers of the "Class of '35", while Pearl Priess, Noland Fish, Mary Arnold, Raymond Bright, Dorothy Carlson, Vernal Krautwauld, Leroy Miller, Anna Pasal, Clarence Daun, Helen Forney, Madeline Mc Bride, George Novak, Viola Stoll, Ruth Brochus and Bernard Stahl discontinued the flight.

This third year adventure proved to be very eventful and prosperous.

The last lap of the journey was entrusted to the abilities of Pilot Duane Scritchfield, Co-pilotess Virginia McLaughlin, and Stewardess Isabel Paul, while Miss Cline and Mr. Smith managed the ship. Before the take-off, Genevieve Burton, Dorothy Clark, Virginia McLaughlin, Judson Korth, and Eugene Stovell entered the ship. However, when half the distance to Seniorville was completed, Judson and Eugene left us in search of other adventures, while Jack Ainsworth came aboard.

The destination of all educationally "air minded" people, Seniorville, has been reached--not without a struggle and not without some fun. Every student has undoubtedly been benefited in some way by the flight.

During the several years required to complete the trip, the passengers of the blue and silver airplane have accomplished many things. At Sopomoretton, the boys won the intramural basketball tournament while the girls won the volley ball tournament. Ralph Potter won the Super-Man contest sponsored by the "L Club".

Following this, while in Juniorburgh, the Junior-Senior banquet was given in honor of the class of 1934, and the Junior play, "Shirt Sleeves" was one of the highlights of that year's trip. Also, the boys won the intramural basketball tourney, while the girls were champions in volley ball and soccer. Ray Bess was winner of this year's Super-Man contest. Eva and Isabel Paul were the winners of the "Name for the School Paper" contest. The victorious choice was the "L" Weekly. The Senior girls home room won the contest for the most subscriptions for the "L"

Weekly while the Senior boys had the most subscriptions for the Lowellian.

In addition to these attainments, the Seniors were prominent in Student organizations, such as the Red Peppers, the "L" Men's and A. clubs, the Band and Student Council, in extra curricular activities such as plays: and in athletics, both varsity and intramural.

The goal of the student members of the "Class" of '35" has been reached--Seniorville will soon be left behind, and each individual will have his own plane to pilot. The destination of each is unknown, but that one glorious trip of four years across the often explored Stratosphere of Education will never be forgotten.

Every Senior takes this opportunity to hope that all succeeding passengers may have a trip equally as fine as his own and, to wish the leaders of L. H. S., the Faculty, a very happy and prosperous future.

Senior Class of 1935

Signed, sealed, published, and declared by the above named Senior Class as their last will and testament, in our presence, this seventeenth day of May, 1935.

SENIOR CLASS PRESENT

This year's senior class, as customary in years preceeding 1935, presented a gift to the school. This gift, an electric score board, was selected as one of the articles most needed in Lowell High School.

The score board was suspended, by means of ropes, from the top of the stage, so it can easily be reraised and lowered. It offers a good view of the score to all persons attending the game. The students and faculty of L. H. S. are very grateful to the seniors for presenting such a useful gift.

FISHING

FUTURE

On May 15, 1950, while I was taking a stroll down the railroad tracks, a peculiar odor of pork and beans reached my nostrils. Looking behind a pile of ties, I was surprised to see a fellow tramp cooking his noon-day meal. Feeling as if I knew the fellow, I introduced myself and found out I was talking to an old acquaintance of mine, Prof. Smith of Lovell High. On further inquiry I found out that he had met misfortune at school teaching, and he was now traveling the road of poverty. Not having been home for over ten years, I inquired about the senior class which had graduated in 1935. He was at first unwilling to tell me, but he finally gave way to my insistent questioning.

"Well," he said, "I'll tell all about them if you'll not interrupt me." I agreed of course, and so he began to reminisce.

"Jack Ainsworth is in the hospital with a wound in his leg. He was bit by a chinch bug which was in the process of pursuing a Red Durham Bull.

"Jack Barnes visited some relatives out West and has never returned. It has been said that he looked in a mirror one day and has not been seen since.

"Dorothy Cunningham opened a dance hall in New York. Dorothy got so lonesome for the farm that she bought a cow and now gives barn dances every Saturday night.

"Mary Dickey, Marie Flatt, and Jane Fleener bought a summer resort along the old Colorado river bed. They had forgotten that the river dried up with the building of Boulder Dam.

"James Echterling, the boy who was known for raising geese--is now owner of a fish hatchery--he complained that the geese got in his hair.

"Elvin Graves has a job riding horses out West and says it is a fitting job.

"George Hayden has left the farm at last and is taking a correspondence course in agriculture, although he had slept through classes on that subject for four years in High School.

"Lillian Henderson and Lucille Hiland have opened a beauty shop in Paris. Having used all their make-up material and beautifiers their first customer appears without !----without what, we wonder?

"James Rice and James Kaetzer, those two great detectives, have opened up a nudist colony to insure the safety of all pocket books. This scheme worked until one member found out that Pauline Lloyd, the girl who checked the members clothing, had just purchased a mink coat.

"Isabel Paul and Donald Korth are married. They are unhappy, for society teaches that you cannot unite a gigolo and an old maid."

"Let's mosey down the track," I suggested, "where we might be able to find some good food. Say, do you remember the delicious food we used to eat at the cafeteria? We students used to wonder what the teachers were always getting into such deep conversations about at their table."

"Gertrude Schmidt, Ellen Solomon, and Jeanette Vandercar have gone on the radio as the Harmony Sisters--they lasted for about three weeks when the radio manager discovered them holding a phonograph record of the Boswell Sisters before the Mike," resumed Prof. Smith.

"Edwin VanNada has opened a chop suey joint in Germantown, England. His best customers are a couple of Scotchmen.

"Fred Stultz, Eugene Stowell and Fred VanArsdell are still trying to think of what they were studying to be in High School.

"Harold Gerrich has become a great Biologist by propounding the theory that a worm is a caterpillar which has lost it's fur coat in a strip poker game.

"Gerald Alger is now in the Sahara Desert trying to organize an orchestra among the Arabs.--(Dry humor. We hope you all get it.)

"Helen Armbruster recently built a hotel in North Hayden, where she says, 'Business is rushing--right past the door.'

"Ray Bess is out in the 'wild and wooly West', teaching the vast herds of cattle to play kick-ball.

"John Buckley moved to the South Sea Islands where he expects to do a thriving business selling overcoats.

"Jeanne Clark got married and settled down. She now lives in one of Indiana's largest hamlets--Grassmere.

"Nellie Jane Clark says she positively will not get married until her present boy-friend gets rid of his other six wives.

"Helen Dahl has acquired the job of Math teacher in a school in China, where she teaches Pig Latin to the Japanese.

"Lewis Eich is now in Hollywood going 'great guns'. It is rumored he will be a second Clark Gable. He now has a salary of $10,000 a week. What a man Eich!

"Kitchell Gorball has a job as a model for a company that sells reducing devices."

"I can remember him as if it were yesterday," I said. He answered me solemnly, "Quiet please."

"Martha Harper still lives in Schneider where she has a 'hi-toned' beauty parlor and barber shop, with Fred Kniering as the head barber.

"Kenneth Holton is the new proprietor of 'Ye Olde Tavern' in Lowell, having replaced one of the late Jones boys.

"Betty Minninger has accumulated in her present home a pile of junk, almost equal to that of the city dump.

"Eva Paul is contemplating drawing comics for the 'Lowell Blab'. She was just recently fired from the rival newspaper staff across the street.

"Lettie Russell has taken up fortune-telling. It is rumored if she would give up her vast fortune, it would knock the pegs off the Gold Standard.

"Shirley Schultz is now an old maid in a home at New Orleans, Indiana. She spent all her life looking for a husband.

"Duane Scritchfield took over the proprietorship of the Rexall, and now sells anything from mouse traps to streamline bicycles.

I was struck dumb-(unusual).

"Gwyneth Strickland is happily wed and has a mansion on the outskirts of Lowell where she is raising field corn."

At this point, I became rigid, I couldn't pick up my feet--I had stepped in gum. "Ah," said Mr. Smith, "that reminds me.

"Carrie Taylor recently won the gum chewing contest held at Lowell Labor Day, and she broke up all the other competitors, because they had to buy the gum.

"Harriet Wason is an aviatrix, having just made a non-stop flight around the world, only stopping for about two days in each country.

"Virginia McLaughlin is still seen with a prominent lawyer about town.

"Surprise! Judson Korth has finally discarded his old Chevie that he used to run to school. He bought a new model and now his wife is the only one who drives it.

"Say--what do I smell--the odor is familiar, it couldn't be food cooking. Don't tell me that after weeks of separation food and I are actually going to meet again. Look! It's Miss Cline, solving the problem of open air cooking on a fireless cooker!" She invited us to stay and was more than pleased to find out Prof. Smith was talking about old friends. She--like me--became all ears????????

"Kenneth Langan has succeeded Bo McMillan as football coach at Indiana. He is famous for his 'sofa tackling'.

"Helen Gasper is in an asylum after years of thinking how she could have spent the ten dollars given away by the Ritz Theater.

"Ella Mae Gerner has continued her yelling career and now is the owner of a fish stand in the Gary Fresh Air Market.

"Edmund Klemm is the creator of 'Silly Sally,' an up and coming comic in the Chicago Tribune.

"Ruth Hathaway is teaching her former classmates' children in Kindergarten. Her brightest pupil is Hazel Combs, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Combs. Mrs. Combs is the former Hazel Severin. We also hear that Ralph is plenty proud of his twenty acre farm.

"Gayne Gord is that all-see-ing, all-telling reporter on the New York Times Staff. She recently received a gold medal for her excellent write-ups concerning the sensational divorce suit of Lydia Larson.

"Marceline Simpson is celebrating her fifteenth wedding anniversary by spending the evening at the Ritz.

"Burga Eilers is a trained nurse caring for Persis Petry, an invalid.

"Gertrude Blizzard is seen serving a group of young people with 'Eskimo Pie' in the old drug store formerly once owned by Mr. Hunter, and does she give Duane competition!

"Martha Nichols is carrying on correspondence with a rich but bashful bachelor through the Matrimonial Bureau.

"Beatrice Rieke, the well-known society matron of Chicago, is giving a ball in honor of the Mayor, Jean Hoevet.

"Marjorie Moxell recently won the beauty contest at Atlantic City. She has sailed for France to compete with other winners.

"Ruth Davis made her debut at the Chicago Theater with her famous 'Rose Dance': however it played only one day when it was censored.

"Beulah Collins get all the gossip as chief telephone operator.

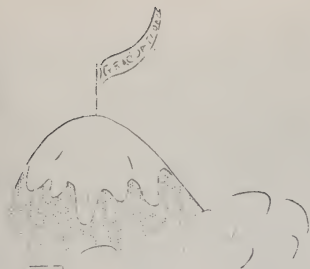

"Esther Amey is just roaming the country in search of her 'dream man'. It is rumored she will soon sail for Africa.

"Genevieve Burton is receiving literary fame for her book, 'Do Married Men Make the Best Husbands'.

"Ruth Tilton is seen dancing nightly at the Cotton Club to the music of C.B. Calloway and his Band. It seems her dancing ability was discovered at the play 'The World's All Right.'

"Dorothy Clark is now playing baritone with the Salvation Army.

"I have told you everything I can remember. Of course, I admit I am getting quite old and may have forgotten a few details--However I am in a hurry, since my private car is due along this track at 3:15. Good old 3:15. It always reminds me of school--I get the same sensation when the train comes as I did when stepping out into an L. H. S. corridor at that time--May I never be crushed by a train quite so badly however! Ah--here it is--well goodbye everyone, my best wishes for success and happiness to all of you, and SWISH, he was gone."

JUNIOR CLASS

When the school term began in the fall of 1932, Lovell High welcomed an unusually large Freshman Class. We made many queer mistakes during the first few weeks, but we were a brilliant class and learned quickly. Even though we were still "green", we were well represented in the band, glee club, and on the distinguished student and honorable mention lists.

That year we elected Billy Tatman, president; Pauline Reeves, vice-president; and Doris Rieke, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Todd and Miss Cline were class sponsors.

The next year, when we were Sophomores, we felt very important, because we were experienced and had almost as many privileges as the Juniors and Seniors.

Soon after school started, Arthur Brodie was elected president; Charles Roberts, vice-president; and Marcia Shurtz, secretary-treasurer. Our class advisors were Mr. Crowe and Miss Peterson.

As a reward for our hard work in school, we had a dinner roast for ourselves at the Castle Brook Golf Course in the spring.

"Juniors" was the title we received the third year. Our officers for that year were Billy Tatman, president; Marcia Shurtz, vice-president; and Grace Love, secretary-treasurer. Miss Peterson and Mr. Brannock were the class sponsors.

During the three years, many have quit school, either because of sickness or because they did not like school work. From the large number which enrolled, seventy-three remain.

We believe that we have the best class that ever attended this school, and that L. H. S. has a right to be proud of the Class of '35!

Grace Love

On the eleventh day of September, 1933, ninety equally frightened freshmen were seen wandering about the halls of L. H. S.

When we became more accustomed to the traditional customs of high school, our sponsors issued the order for our first class meeting. To transact our business for 1933 and 1934 we elected:

President--Vincent Beckman
Vice-President-Kieth Iikens
Secretary-Treasurer-Norman Turner
Student Council Representatives-Bernice Bolin and Harold Kenney

Our sponsors were Miss Springer and Mr. Palmer.

In order to make us feel at home, the Senior girls gave the Freshmen girls a reception in the form of a treasure hunt with a spread afterwards, which was enjoyed immensely.

As is the custom of every Freshman class, we selected class colors, ours being green and white.

Our class social consisted of a wiener roast at Castlebrooke Golf Course. Thus ended our freshman year.

The fourth of September marked our second entrance into L. H. S. This time, with only eighty two students, we were not nearly so frightened. As our class officials and representatives this year we elected:

President-----Harold Kenney
Vice-President---Luella Nichols
Secretary-Treasurer-Bernice Bolin
Student Council---Naomi Collins and Henry Bueffer

Our sponsors this year were Mr. Crowder and Mr. Glendening, but shortly after the opening of the second semester Mr. Glendening took a position in Ellihert, and Mr. Ham came in his place, so he also was our sponsor.

As an emblem of our class, blue sweaters, with gold ensigns were purchased, in keeping with our new and permanent class colors, blue and gold.

FRESHMAN CLASS

When we freshmen first walked up the steps of Lowell High, we were very "green" in the ways and customs of L. H. S. We had this fact accentuated by the wearing of very vivid green caps. Since then we have been polished off a bit by constant contact with upper classmen.

It seems queer that we, freshmen, shall someday be the distinguished seniors of L. H. S.

At the beginning of the year the enrollment of the freshman class was 90 students, but owing to the removal of several families the enrollment has decreased to 87 students.

About the second week of school we elected as our class officers, Mary Tatman, president; Wm. Dorsch, vice-president; and Betty Hoffman, secretary-treasurer. We have two advisors, Mr. Shotts and Miss Springer.

We have several representatives in sports and also in the band and glee club.

We have attended several parties which we all enjoyed to the fullest extent.

We think we are a great asset to Lowell High; after all our elders and upper classmen were freshmen once.

Psalm Of Chemistry

Mr. Brannock is our teacher, we shall not pass;
He maketh us to solve dense equations:
He leadeth us to expose our ignorance before the class;
He maketh us to work hard calculations for our grades' sake.
Yea, though we study 'till' doomsday, we shall learn no chemistry;
The equations and odors sorely trouble us.
He prepareth unbearable quizzes for us, which look like enemies to us;
He appointeth our cards with low grades, our work runneth over.
Surely zeroes and conditions shall follow us
all the days of our lives,
And we shall dwell in L. E. S. forev r.

From Tho Soph
Caesar conquered many nations--
A mighty war was he;
And in my examinations
He also conquered me.

We laugh at all the teachers' jokes,
No matter what they be;
Not because they're funny jokes,
But because it's policy.

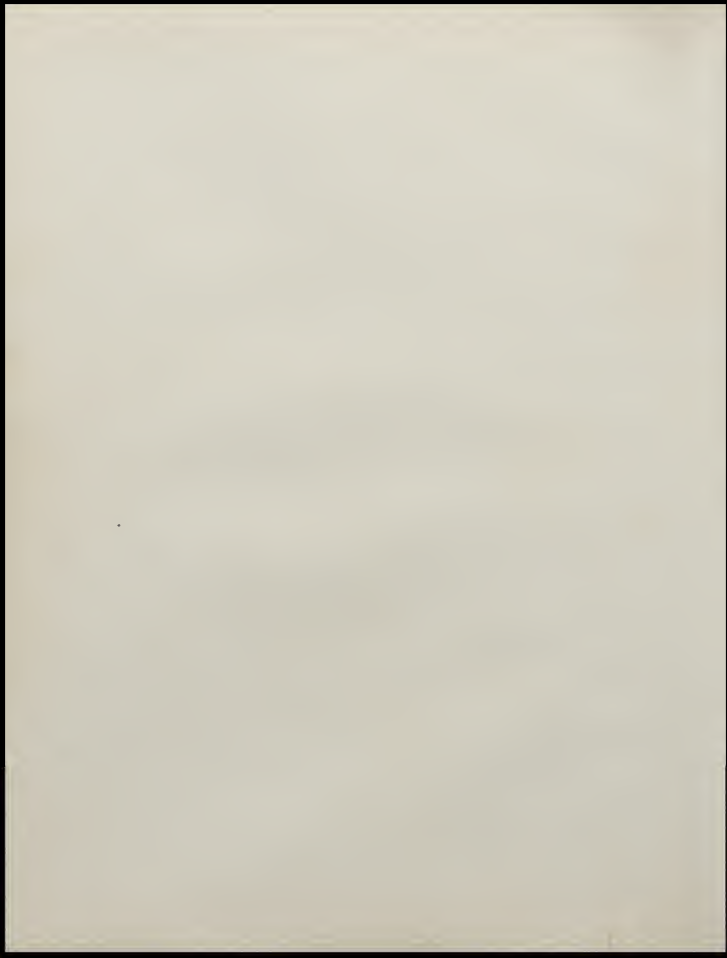

You can always tell a Senior
By his strut around the town;
You can always tell a Junior
By his foolish looking frown;
You can always tell a Sophomore
By his collar, tie, and such;
You can always tell a Freshie,
But you cannot tell him much.

FRESHMEN

STUDENT COUNCIL

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council serves as the legislative body of the school. Members of the council are elected by fellow students to represent each Home Room. Delegates from all organizations and senior class officers are also members of this group, and through these representatives the students are given a voice in the school.

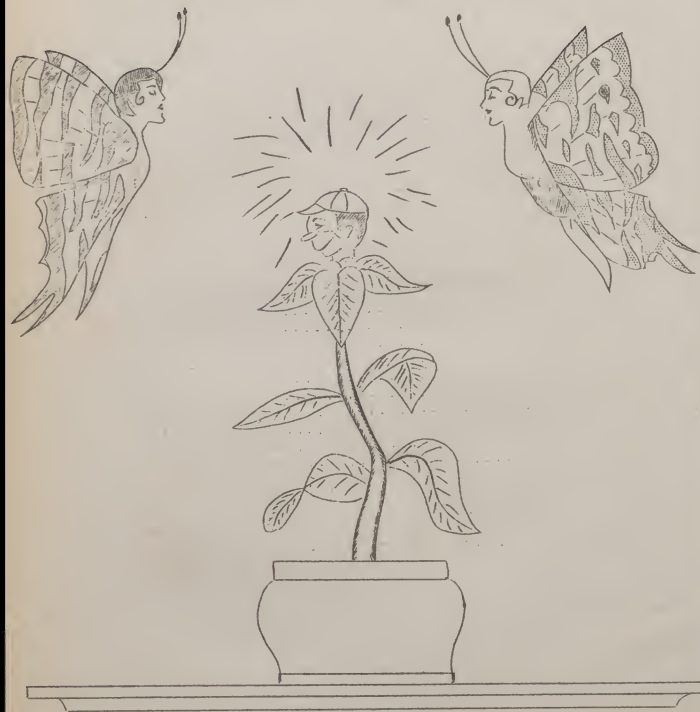

Each week the council meets to discuss various problems, and methods of improving the school government. It brings about cooperation between students and the faculty and in this way there is a better understanding and response to school regulations.

Mr. Goodwin is president of the council, Edwin Van Nada vice-president and Isabel Paul is secretary. There are now seventeen members. They are:

THE

The "L" Weekly made its initial appearance in Lowell High School on October 14, 1934. With a few exceptions the paper has appeared every Wednesday afternoon since that memorable day.

The first two issues were given to every student and faculty member, but following that a subscription price of five cents for six weeks was charged. "Perhaps if a few free subscriptions were given every once in a while, the sales of the paper and its popularity would be increased," commented the members of the editorial staff.

But students of Lowell High school do enjoy the "L" Weekly. Whenever the journalism class chanced to miss publishing the paper for a week for some unavoidable reason, everyone helped to cause quite a commotion over its absence.

At the beginning of the year the students taking journalism conceived the brilliant idea of having a school paper. Of course much discussion must ensue before the final decision could be made. The commercial department having agreed to assist by printing the publication, the various students embarked upon their careers as reporters, editors and assistant editors.

The main purpose of producing the "L" Weekly was not to turn out a perfect paper, but to provide practical experience for the students working on it. During the first semester, the journalism class had the responsibility of publishing the paper, but beginning with the second semester a selected staff was composed of a few of the best journalism students and several of the under classmen, who are outstanding in composition work. In this way much experience in editing is gained by the lower classmen, and the staff more nearly represents the school as a whole.

The "L" Weekly has been entirely a project of students, who under the guidance of Mr. Smith, have filled the vacant space which has existed since the last publication of the 'Skyrocket' several years past. The paper nevertheless, is of no expense to the school, since subscription money covers the cost of materials used.

The platform of the "L" Weekly is to improve our school, to support all school projects, and to give practical experience to journalism and commercial students. Of course, it also furnishes no small amount of entertainment, but its main value lies in the fact that it keeps the students "Abreast of the Times."

SCIENCE CLUB

In the year of nineteen hundred and thirty-four, under the supervision of Mr. Brannock, the Science Club was organized. Since the purpose of this organization was to promote an interest in the study of scientific problems, only those students who have had three years of science, or who are at present taking a course in it, are eligible for membership.

During the year several reports on various scientific subjects were given by the members. The group also heard an interesting talk given by Doctor Neil Davis, a local physician.

The club chose as its project this year photography and the developing of pictures.

The club officers are: Jack Barnes, president; James Rice, vice-president; Guyneth Gord, secretary and treasurer.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE CLUB

The Vocational Agriculture Club, the oldest organization in Lowell High, was organized in the year of 1923 under the guidance of Mr. Oyler. The club membership limited to boys taking agriculture, and at present consists of 23 members.

Each year this group sponsors many worthwhile events, the largest being the Annual Corn and Egg Show. They are also represented by dairy and livestock judging teams in County and often State contests.

An agriculture boys basketball team was organized and competed with teams of other schools.

This year the club was under the supervision of Mr. J. E. Little. The officers are: Kitchell Gorbail, president; Charles Tyler, vice-president; Charles Bowman, secretary and treasurer; George Hayden, student council representative.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"The Youngest" by Philip Barry

The play "The Youngest", a comedy in 3 acts, is a very dramatic story of the baby of the family being continually abused.

Richard Winslow, aged 22 and the youngest of the family, has innumerable opportunities to do anything and be anyone but what he desires. His mother, Mrs. Winslow, would be satisfied if he became a lawyer; his brothers want him to enter into the pin business with them; but Richard chooses to be an author.

Miss Nancy Blake arrives in the Winslow household as a guest and is greeted with enthusiasm. Each member of the family makes his contribution in explaining Richard's oddities, and Nancy immediately draws her conclusions and decides to help him if it is at all possible. It might be added that she had great faith in her ability to manage people.

Nancy proves to be a good manager; she manages Mark, Oliver, and Dick; but after a short time has elapsed, the situation is beyond her control. Alan, Augusta's husband and Richard's lawyer, proves by certain statutes that Richard owns everything the family possess and more is due him.

At first Richard is very decent and asks only for a room of his own where he might be left alone. This is refused him, so he takes things into his own hands. Eventually the family "comes-round". When Richard learns that Nancy has deliberately managed him in this manner, he definitely decides to bring her down to his level; this he accomplished. He also decided to settle the money question by placing it in a trust fund.

FIGURATIVELY SPEAKING — —

The little mouse of thought went scampering across the student's mind and popped into its hole again.

The students at 3:15 oozed out of the school house like tooth paste out of a double barreled tube.

The students listen to what teacher doesn't say and never miss a word.

Our English teacher talks like a dictionary on its best behavior.

Two students deeply engaged in idleness.

Our teachers could start their voices and then go away and leave them talking.

"Are you Seniors or Freshmen", is one teacher's common remark upon entering a teacherless room.

According to the teachers, a day off is usually followed by an off day.

Most students come into classrooms with lips like zippers drawn on a face as long as an after-dinner speech.

Some students drop their voice to a molo-bass while some girl students' voices creak like the hinges of a rusty gate.

The hair of most teachers' seems touched by an early frost.

Students have been known to go into mental tail spins.

The freshman are so bashful that their voices blush when they use them.

There is always one student who will short-circuit the teacher's assignment.

Most students are so weary by the end of the day that they have no more go in them than an unwound clock.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL BAND

The Lowell high school band was organized in nineteen thirty two by Mr. Fant. Since then it has increased much in size and ability.

In 1935 the band, under the able direction of Mr. Madden, played and marched in formations at all of the home football games.

During this past year they have had several interesting experiences. At the beginning of the school term, the school with the aid of the Lowell American Legion bought uniforms for the band.

For the first time in the history of our school, Lowell High has been represented in the state band contest which is held annually. They performed creditably as is indicated by the fact that they were given second division award.

The mothers of the various members this year, organized what is known as the Band Mothers' Club. These mothers have as their aim to aid the band financially and otherwise. They have given their wholehearted support, and have aided greatly the advancement of our band.

The officers of the band are as follows:

President.....	Dorothy Clark
Vice President.....	Edwin Van Nada
Secretary-Treasurer....	Grace Love

BEAUTITUDES

And the teachers opened their mouths and taught us, saying:

- I. Blessed are the proud in spirit, for theirs is salvation.
- II. Blessed are the Juniors that mourn, for they shall be comforted.
- III. Blessed are the meek Freshies, for they shall inherit the credits.
- IV. Blessed are they which do hunger after knowledge, for they will be filled.
- V. Blessed are the Sophs, for they shall obtain our places.
- VI. Blessed are the dressmakers, for they shall be called the Domestic Science Class.
- VII. Blessed are they which are punished for mis-chief's sake, for their's is the sympathy of the Seniors.
- VIII. Blessed is the Class which teachers shall rebuke, and punish, and say all manner of evil against you falsely (?), for punishment's sake.

Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in credits, for so punished they the Seniors which were before you.

L. H. S. CARNIVAL

The L. H. S. Carnival, which was first presented in the year of '33, was again held on October 16, 1934. The people attending began arriving, in large numbers, about 5.30, the big attraction, of course, being the chicken supper. The gym, which was the center of attraction, was decorated in orange and black, and this color scheme was carried out in all class booths.

"House of Horrors", "Toss the Penny on the Plate", "Let Us Guess Your Weight", "Ring the Duck", "Corn Game", and "Bowling Alley" furnished much amusement for everyone.

The senior girls were the winners of the prize offered to the class whose booth sold the most tickets.

The Carnival was a great success financially, and all the money went for a good purpose, this purpose being to buy uniforms and new music for the school band.

> OPEN - HOUSE <

On April fourth, with the welcome mat gracing the doorstep, Lowell High flung open her doors in honor of a great event. Open House was here again and brought with it a record crowd of interested parents and friends.

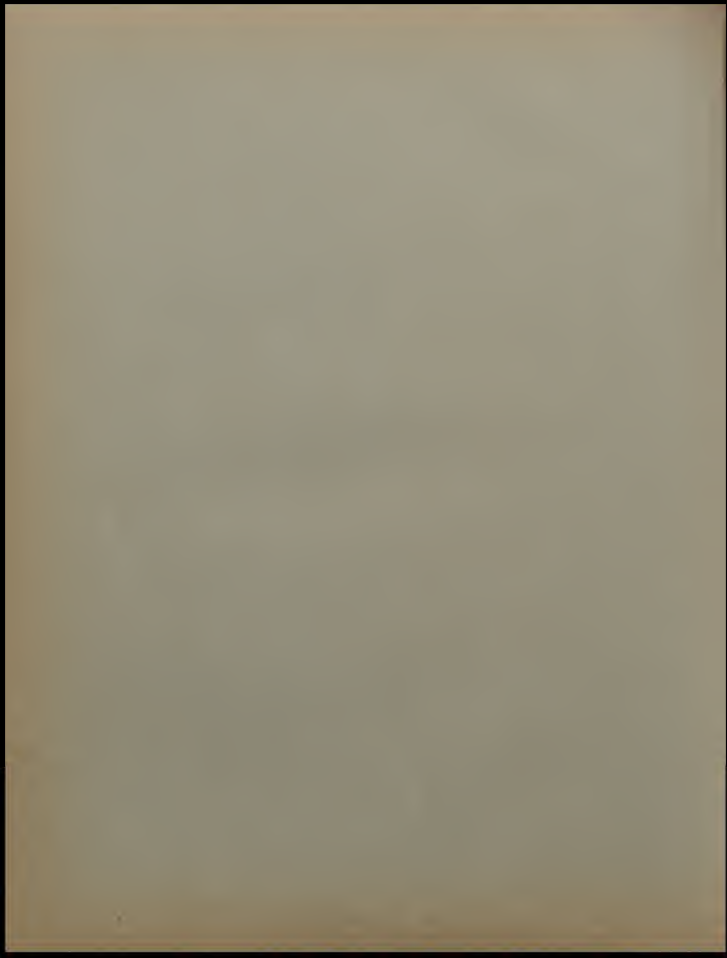

As folks congregated in the auditorium the band, in full uniform, opened the program with a series of numbers. Mr. Goodwin gave a welcome address and the dramatics class contributed their bit by presenting a one act play.

During a short recess, the parents were given an opportunity to visit the various class rooms in which there were special exhibits. The would-be scientists were working experiments in the laboratory; other students were busy taking speed tests in the commercial room, which chart and notebooks showed the accomplishments of the English, Sociology, and Mathematics students. The Home Ec. girls appealed to the appetites of the guests with their display of properly balanced meals, and the Ag. boys, not to be outdone, demonstrated the art of rope making.

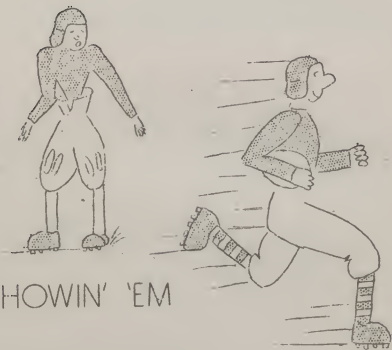

At the close of the intermission an educational film was shown in the auditorium. Music by the girls glee club followed and the evening's entertainment ended with a short gymnastic exhibition.

Eleven o'clock found the doors again closed and the building encircled in darkness. Old Lowell High smiled peacefully to herself, pleased with the changes and advancements made in the past four years since the first exhibition of this kind. The welcome mat had been carefully stored away and lay now awaiting the arrival of the coming year.

Football

Summary

RENSSELEAR 0; LOWELL 6

The Red Devils started the season right by defeating the experienced Rensselaer eleven 6 to 0 in what looked more like a mid-season game than the first game of the year.

CROWN POINT 18; LOWELL 0

The Crown Point squad completely crushed the Red Devils in the first of the two game series. This was the first game to be played on the new field under lights. The last half of the game was played in a downpour of rain, which hindered both teams greatly.

KENTLAND 6; LOWELL 12

The Lowell eleven defeated Kentland on the latter's home field. The Lowell attack was led by Olson, at full back, and Nelson, each getting one touchdown. The Kentland score came in the fourth period as a result of an aerial attack.

CLARK 14; LOWELL 0

The Red Devils received their second defeat of the year when they bowed to the Clark Pioneers. Lowell played a fine "knock-out" game, but Bronkus and Hensley proved too much for the boys.

HOBART 7; LOWELL 19

The Lowell eleven, sore from defeat at the hands of Clark, took revenge on the Hobart team. The outstanding play of Olson was the feature of the game.

MOROCCO 0; LOWELL 33

The Red Devils showed their superiority early in the contest and remained in charge of the game until the end. Olson scored once in each of the four periods, and Wehle scored once in the second quarter.

GRIFFITH 6; LOWELL 45

Griffith, recovering a Lowell fumble on the kick off, scored in the first few minutes of play. The Red Devils lost no time in tying the score and then continued to score throughout the game.

CROWN POINT 0; LOWELL 19

The Red Devils went to Crown Point with the feeling of revenge for the defeat that they suffered at the hands of the Bull Dogs at their first meeting. Wehle scored the first touchdown in the first quarter, and Olson scored in the second and fourth quarters.

VALPO 13; LOWELL 18

The Red Devils defeated the Vikings of Valpo in the hardest fought game of the season. The Lowell team was outweighed about twenty-five pounds to the man but succeeded in reducing the Valpo eleven to its size.

Summary

HEBRON 16; LOWELL 24

The Red Devils started the season by defeating the Hebron Hawks to the tune of 24 to 16. It was an exciting and interesting game with the Bartz brothers taking the spot-light, scoring eighteen of the twenty-four points.

CLARK 30; LOWELL 16

The Lowell Five was defeated by the powerful George Rogers Clark quintet by the score of 30 to 16. The game was close until the last few minutes, when Clark opened up with a volley of one-handed shots which the Red Devils were unable to stop.

KENTLAND 11; LOWELL 10

Defense was the password of the Kentland tilt. Both teams showed superb defensive power, and it was only the breaks of the game that gave Kentland the victory.

WOLCOTT 32; LOWELL 36

The Lowell Cafers were determined not to make the trip to Wolcott for nothing, and they opened up with a good offensive game and downed the Wolcott quintet 36 to 32. "Coffee" and "Orv" Bartz and Harold Kenny scored 30 of the 36 points for Lowell.

MOROCCO 33; LOWELL 21

The Red Devils got off to an early lead, but were not able to hold the pace set by the keen-eyed "Beavers". The Morocco team was the same as the one which won the sectional tournament at Goodland last year.

HOBART 28; LOWELL 16

The Lowell quintet was slow in getting started, and Hobart got off to an early lead. This lead proved too much for the Red Devils last quarter rally.

BOONE GROVE 18; LOWELL 35

The Lowell Five took an early lead in the Boone Grove encounter and were able to hold this lead the entire game, without a great deal of trouble.

RENSSELEAR 25; LOWELL 20

The game was close until the final period, when the strong Rensselear quintet staged an attack which the Red Devils were unable to match.

CROWN POINT 31; LOWELL 14

The Bull Dogs crushed the Red Devil cagers by the score of 31 to 14. The game was very close until the fourth quarter, the score at the start of the last period being 13 to 12 in favor of Crown Point. The Bull Dogs then drew away from the Red Devils by making 19 points to Lowell's 2.

MOROCCO 31; LOWELL 33

The Red Devils and Beavers staged a very exciting game with even a more exciting finish. The Red Devils scored in the last 30 seconds in order to be victorious.

CLARK 20; LOWELL 21

In another of their thrilling finishes the Lowell cagers nosed out the Pioneers, of Clark, 21 to 20. The score was close during the entire game with the winning point coming in the last few seconds.

BROOK 17; LOWELL 34

The Red Devils defeated Brook for the first time in nearly ten years. The Lowell quintet controlled the game in its entirety having little trouble with the Newton County lads.

NORTH JUDSON 30; LOWELL 21

The Lowell cagers held the strong North Judson team to a draw until the last quarter when the Blue Jays staged a spirited attack and emerged victorious by the score of 30 to 21.

EAST GARY 32; LOWELL 31

The Lowell Red Devils played one of their hardest games of the season at Edison of East Gary. The game went into a double overtime. The Red Devils were leading until a few seconds before the final gun of the second over time period.

BOSWELL 24; LOWELL 34

Lowell repeated their last year's victory over Boswell by defeating them by the score of 34 to 24. The Red Devils made certain their victory only in the last few minutes when they had a scoring spree.

CALUMET 21; LOWELL 25

The Red Devils triumphed over the Calumet Twp. Five by the score of 25 to 21. The play during the first half was rather erratic, but the Lowell drive in the second half secured the victory. "Orv" Bartz was high point man, scoring 11 points.

GRIFFITH 13; LOWELL 23

The Lowell five took an early lead and were never pressed by the Griffith team. "Orv" Bartz was high point man, scoring five field goals and one free throw for a total 11 points.

HOBART 28; LOWELL 24

Although Lowell got the first point the Hobart "Brickies" took an early lead which they held until the end of the first quarter. The score was then advanced by both teams until Lowell lead with only two minutes to go. Hobart then scored two more baskets and held Lowell scoreless to emerge victorious.

CROWN POINT 20; LOWELL 26

The Lowell quintet gained revenge for its first defeat at the hands of Crown Point, when it ended their pre-tourney games by defeating its traditional rivals 26 to 20. The game was exciting throughout, it being won only in the last few minutes of play.

// VALUE OF ATHLETICS

It is no longer fashionable to be an invalid, nor does the spirit of the time encourage the idea of the "clinging vine." A sound mind in a healthy body is needed in the race of life, where only the fittest survive. Rather a tanned, hardy robust boy, with a ragged sweater on his back, many scratches on his freckled face, the youthful hero of the gridiron, than a timid white-faced youth, with an expression on his pallid features that almost apologizes for his very existence.

In high school these conditions are almost identically the same. The boys serving on the various teams are getting an education of which others never dream. We are taught that we go to school and use the prescribed books because of their aid in cultivating our minds, training us to think, and to successfully meet emergencies, backed by our own judgment. Sports also bring out these things. Self-reliance, one of the greatest assets of success, is cultivated nowhere better than in football, baseball or tennis.

Athletics also acts as an incentive to those students who would otherwise take no interest in studies and in school life.

Planning the intellectual and physical together--combining them harmonically--is undoubtedly the way to attain individual perfection.

RED PEPPER CLUB

The Red Pepper Club was organized in the year 1929, with Miss Peterson as advisor. The club consists of fifty members, with a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, club reporter, and yell leader as officers.

The purpose of the club is to sponsor all athletics for the girls of Lowell High School. A girl must secure 300 points in order to be initiated into the club.

The system by which points may be earned is as follows:

First team member or substitute in soccer, volley ball, kickball, indoor ball or basket-ball-----100 points.
Second team----- 50 points.
Officer in the club----- 25 points.
Hiking-3 points a mile, not more than 25 points a year.

In each class a captain is chosen for each team. The captain picks the team, and a tournament is held. The class winning all games also has the honor of winning the tournament. An additional 10 points is given each member of the championship team.

Those acquiring 1500 points are given the letters "L H" as an award, and to those acquiring 1800 points a pin is awarded.

Each year the Red Peppers honor their mothers by holding a "Mother's Tea. An Athletic Dance, also a yearly event, is sponsored by the club for the members of the boys athletic teams.

The officers for the year are:

Fersis Petry-----President
Dot Cunningham----Vice President
Mary Alice Bolin--Secretary and Treasurer
Marcia Shurte-----Student Council Member

TICKET SELLING CAMPAIGN
STARTED BY CLASS MEMBERS

Thursday and Friday, December 6 and 7, have been set as the dates upon which the junior class play, "Honor Bright", is to be presented. Plans for the sale of tickets are being formulated under the direction of the two junior class sponsors, Miss Peterson and Mr. Brannock, and the business manager of the play, Grace Love.

L H S CLEARS $339 ON CARNIVAL

The Carnival was a bigger and better one this year than it was in 1933, when comparison is made in management, as well as from the financial standpoint. A sum, amounting to $339.67, was cleared after paying the total expenditures of $112.24 out of the amount taken in, which was $452.71. The dinner, of course, was the largest paying proposition bringing in $120.30. Various expenditures not covered by the donations, such as food, pop, beer, work in

OX CART TRAVELER IS L. H. S. VISITOR

Sh Pullen, the ox-cart
from McCrue,

DID YOU KNOW?

That there is a lost and found department in the office? Many articles are turned in there, and reports of losses may be given.

That a place is provided for students' money in the safe in the office? Whenever anyone has a large amount which he doesn't wish to carry he may leave it in the office.

That the office is the head-quarter for club funds? A double receipt form is made out, so as to prevent all possible errors. There is also a cabinet in which club and class candy is kept.

"I'M THE BOOB"

I'm the boob who says, "I'm not going to play those silly baby games." Why should I get down on the floor; after all, I paid a dime to get in to this party. They can't make me play or dance if I don't want to. This is an all school party, so I'm only going to dance with the good dancers.

POPPING THE QUESTION RED DEVILMENT

Do you think we should have ping-pong teams and tournaments?

Miss Peterson-teacher: I think that there shouldn't be teams, but I think there should be tournaments.

L. H. S. ROUND-UP

Miss Peterson has the schedule arranged for the junior girls' ping-pong tournament. The tourney is to start next week. Several matches will be played off each noon.

Mary Alice Bolin has been absent several days due to a severe cold. She is again, however, back.

John Hoffman fell on the ice and cut his forehead severely.

Persis Petry and Ella Mae Gerner took care of the Petry home, kept the home fires burning, from Thursday until Sunday. The girls had a grand time and many amusing experiences. Said Persis, "We ate, slept, did the dishes and had a good time." Said Ella Mae, "We kept house all by ourselves, and we had a grand time!"

Mr. Smith had the same experience many students have had, Friday. Upon leaving his car, he slipped and fell. When Mr. Smith was asked if he was hurt, his wrathful answer was, "Yes, my dignity is hurt very much!"

Young Frank Ochiltree reports that he wouldn't even mind being a street urchin if it were in the Streets of Paris.

With combined intelligence and mental cooperation, the tour-

SCIENCE TEACHER CONSIDERS AUTOS

"I believe the automatic shift on the Reo is the most mechanically and scientifically sound invention introduced at the auto show this year," said Mr. Brannock who attended the automobile exhibit at the Coliseum Saturday, January 26. He added that the tear-drop style of the cars is also a wonderful improvement to lessen air resistance.

JUNIORS ENJOY PARTY

The juniors held their class party on Monday night of this week. There were about forty five present to enjoy the good time as pronounced by those attending. The evening was spent by playing buncs and dancing.

< LOWELLIAN CONTEST >

Ladies and Gentlemen: Station L. H. S. brings to you at this time the results of that great Annual Contest which has aroused so much interest and no end of curiosity. As you no doubt recall, this contest was sponsored by the Lowellian staff and each high school student purchasing a year book was entitled to vote.

We have the winners of the contest here in the studio and it gives me great pleasure to introduce them to you.

First let us be in with the best looking girl and boy--and Ah, Ladies and Gentlemen--that was a marvelous choice;--Miss Petty Humble and Mr. Edwin Van Nada--(Will you kindly come forward and make a bow?--Thank you.)

Now for the outstanding student. We'll also ask them to arise and shine--Miss Verna Korth and Harold Kenney. Folks let me tell you that no one can doubt that these two precocious looking youngsters are highly intelligent.

Florence Wehle and Arthur Brodie are sitting over in the corner patiently awaiting their turn to step forward and make a bow. These two were chosen as the most popular girl and boy of Lowell High. Of course Brodie's prominence as a football hero accounts for much of his popularity,--especially with the girls.

And now folks we still have two students here with rosy cheeks and glowing faces. Last but by no means least--Maeia Shurtz and Orville Bartz--the best girl and boy athlete.

Our time is limited but we's just like to add that this is the first official announcement of contest results. We hope it has been a pleasant surprise to you all.

NOW I'LL TELL ONE==

A nymous left on Friday on her trip to the Berg in her Bright 1935 Dodge during a terrific Blizzard which was Melton fast. The only vehicle that could pass her was a Henderson motorcycle. On this journey, she wore a Brown sweater with a Brown-ell on it. She carried with her a Dahl, two Combs, a few Pounds of Granger which she bought with three Nichols and a Schilling, a Fish, a Govert, one Shurte, some Rice, a Holton trombone, And-er-son, Dickey.

Anonymous said to her boy, "Ol-son, I do wish you would stop trying to Heckel me!" He stopped immediately because he did Love her very much.

The auto sped along the Hiland and came to a long Hill with a sharp curve. The car swerved to the Wright, and the son tried to Turrer. The vehicle started Tilton and almost hit an Ochiltree which was made of Wood.

As the car balanced on two Wehle (s), Anonymous didn't know whether her son could save them from a horrible death or not, but she managed to exclaim, "Kenney or Wille?"

He saved them from disaster and bragged that he had to be Spry in order to do such a fine and pleasant Surprise. After Anonymous had recovered from the Schock, she Schutz her son up by telling him that they both have the wrong Holtz on the steering Geer.

As the car went into a Stahl, they ran out of gas, so, stopping at their farm where there were a lot of Barnes, they talked with the foreman, Paul. He got to talking about the place and said, "We've got Fi-field on this here farm and purty soon Ewer gonna have to Tyler".

Ther farmer's son, who was so Armstrong that he was a vicious Armbruster, inquired of his Humble father what he should do with that dead Black thing over there with the big Huebsch. The "thing" was a Martin, the King of all birds. His father retorted, "Burnham!" The lad obeyed and soon he was heard to cry out, "Osburn!" and he was in Ernest too.

The farmer got the gas hose, went over to the car, and Felder Fuller than you can imagine with Mead fresh from the Wineland.

While trying to Pierce one of her beads with a knife, Anonymous accidentally cut her bead string, and, naturally, the beads flew in all directions. She looked at her son and ordered very firmly, "My boy, you will have to Stringham on the Strand!"

While the two visitors were at the farm, Bales of grain were put in the Hay-don, and were carried from the fields in the Hay-hurst. Upon hearing the Russell of a strange laborer working in the barn-yard, Anonymous asked, "Husman is this?" The foreman replied that he was just a helper called Mac who Likens himself to everyone and works in the dance Hall on Saturday nights. He added that he caught Mac Laugh(1)in to himself once and ever since he had thought him to be slightly batty.

Before leaving the premises, the son of Anonymous Stowell a Henn and a Gord, taking both with him to the village.

As Anonymous and her laddie were Kniering the town, they could see that it was lying in a Flatt plain. In the suburbs of the town, they passed monuments of Lee, Harding, and Grant. The business district consisted of a building owned and operated by the Miller and the Baker, the church of the Bishop who also dug Graves, the workshop of the village Smith, and the place of business of the Taylor.

When riding down the main, and only street of this town in their car, the youth said, "Parker here and let's go into this Bolin alley. I'll bet I can beat you!"

○ FLIPPANCY ○

She: "Don't you think that the way to true happiness is to forget yourself, to bury yourself in your work?"

He: "Sorry, I don't. I'm a concrete worker."

The three year old girl was taught to close her prayer, during her fathers absence, with "and please watch over my daddy."

One night, much to her mothers surprise, she added--"and you better keep an eye on Mama too."

Angry teacher (grabbing a frisky Fresh. by the collar): "I believe the devil has got hold of you."

Freshman: "I believe he has too."

Old lady--"And do you ever smoke little boy?"

Little Boy--"Yes Ma'am"--But I get dinned out at times."

Blocked Point

A man bought the only car leaving morning car space.
An old lady held to his seat and burst into tears, wailing that she would miss him so. He told her to have a burst on that train. He told her to tell the man he told her his ticket was assigned to the telegraph office--
His message read--"Will not arrive until tomorrow.
Just gave birth to an old lady."

Two old maids were sitting in front of the fireplace on Christmas Eve.

First Old Maid: "Would a stocking hold all you want for Christmas?"

Second Old Maid: "No, but a pair of socks would."

"Can you tell me, my dear man, what time of day it is?"

"Can't say my good fellow, I'm a stranger here myself."

Huron R.--(as he knelt on his knees in the parlor in order to press his suit). "I grovel here in the dust at y ur feet."

Marjerie H.--Dust! Dust! Do you mean to insult me?" After I spent the whole forenoon cleaning this room up?"

First Drunk--(On train)--"What time issit?"

Second Drunk--(pulling match box from vest)--

"Ish Thurs."

First Inebriate:--"S' good--here's where I get off!"

Gwyneth S.--(sighing) "Jack was the goal of my ambition, but alas"--

Gwyneth--"Father kicked the girl!"
